The owners of this home, a young family of four, had a hard time entertaining their guests in their small kitchen. Fortunately, TriVistaUSA knew just how to help the Arlington, Virginia, residents.

"The main goal for the project was to give the growing family the space they needed to set their roots," says Michael Sauri, president and co-owner of TriVistaUSA. After a major update, he says the area has "a relaxed and welcoming ambience."

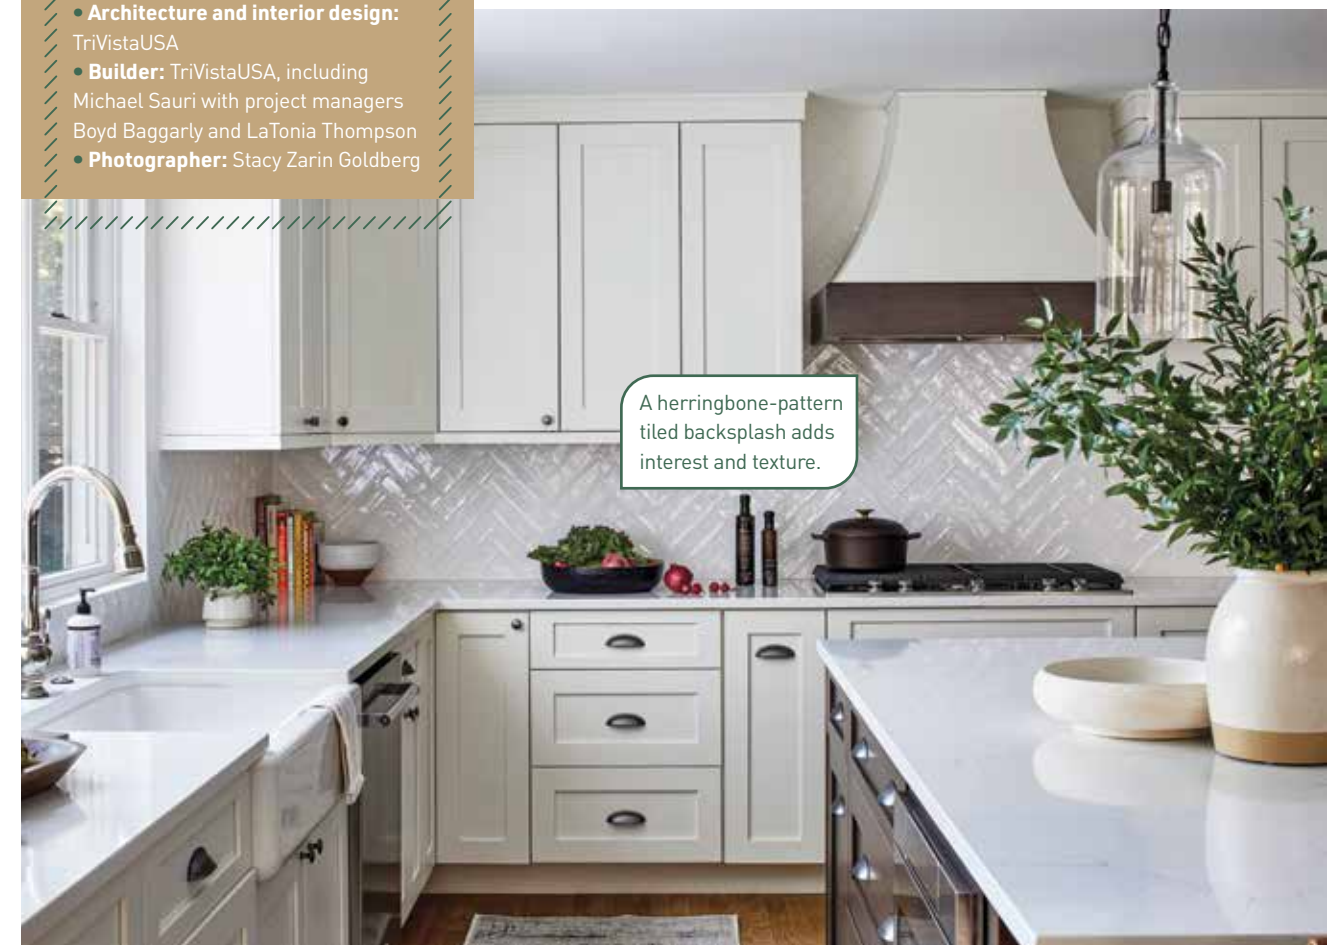

A stained band on the range hood to match the island was a focal point in the design.

A beverage fridge, along with a full-size fridge, maximize cooling space.
